Mr. H. P. Fairman in on the Job Again With More Details of Sanitarium

A PATIENT WHO KNOWS

Friend Johnson:

That it may not be construed that the patients alone are responsible for sanitary conditions by doing their part toward keeping things clean, I will describe that part of the work done by the nurses and attendants.

Every morning all floors are sprinkled with a dust preventive preparation and swept thoroughly, corners, beneath beds, and other furniture. This refuse is burned. Convalescent patients, may, if they desire the exercise assist in this work, and frequently do, but it is not compulsory; merely a matter of inclination and ambition. This work is assigned to a man who assists the nurse by carrying laundry, bedding and doing such other work as she may require.

Once every week and more often if necessary the floors are scrubbed with hot water and soap powder. This work is done in a most efficient manner by a man of muscular attainments. It is not a method of slopping water on the floor and wiping it up with a cloth or mop. A floor brush is used and Louis appears to delight in a vigorous application of it. When his work is done the floors are as spotless and white as the most fastidious could desire. The windows likewise receive attention when thought necessary; they are scoured and polished diligently, including sashes and casings.

All furniture is enameled white. This likewise is gone over with soap and water once weekly at least. There is no "dusting". Dust is removed more effectively with soap and water. No private house is kept more assiduously clean and spotless.

There is nothing to attract flies but they come just the same. When the place is thoroughly screened, as it is before warm weather the flies find little chance to get in. In fact once inside he meets his doom for there is no place until a swatter has scented his fate. Swatters are already in operation.

Outside the buildings every effort is made to collect everything that the wind can blow about the grounds. Load after load of dead leaves and grass have been gathered and hauled to the garden for fertilizer. It will not be used this year but left to decay for next year.

All dead trees about the grounds and in the grove have been removed during the winter and transferred into stove wood.

Chickens, of which over one hundred are kept are not allowed to run about the farm. Their preserve is wired both sides and top. They are cared for by the gardener. A supply of approximately 1150 eggs was gathered in March. April will be far in excess of that number. Besides being supplied with home grown fresh eggs at all times we have enjoyed chicken dinners on Sundays as frequently as the ordinary citizens.

In my next letter I will endeavor to outline the scheme of management as I have been able to observe.

H. P. Fairman.

Grayslake to Have Sewer

At last, Grayslake is to have a system of sewers. The entire roll was confirmed by the County court of Lake county on Monday of this week. There was not a single objection filed and we are informed that those objecting were informed by their attorney that the ordinance and the specifications for the proposed improvement were drawn and written up in such an iron clad form that it would be impossible to find a flaw, on which to base his argument for an objection and that the lawyer advised his clients not to fight the matter further as it would be only a waste of money.

FIGURING COST OF PRODUCING MILK BY DAIRYMEN

Now after the big "milk strike" is over and the dairymen are delivering their product at a fairly good figure, along comes a fellow with a pencil and figures out that the dairymen is not getting enough and according to the figures he isn't getting any too much for his investment and labor and feed required. The following taken from The Elgin Courier, will be of interest to our dairymen friends:

"That farmers in the Elgin dairy district who will receive an average of $1.55 per hundred pounds for milk during the next six months will be making a profit of 15 cents or that amount is indicated from figures compiled in the East, on costs of milk production.

"Three cow testing associations in New Hampshire found that a quart of milk cost in feed alone, two cents, and that the profit on 1,100 cows for one year was $32.04 for each cow more than the cost of feed. Bear in mind this is only on a basis of feed cost. In Connecticut the feed cost for twenty-five cows was $3,039.7 a quart for one year. The value of the New Hampshire milk was $0.0371 a quart, only $0.0171 more than feed cost. At that price in Connecticut, the milk which cost in feed alone $0.0397, would cause the farmer to lose $0.0026 on every quart produced.

In Jefferson county, New York, the average total cost of a quart of milk for one year for 834 cows in 53 herds was $0.026015. The year was April, 1913 to April 1914. This cost included bedding, buildings and dairy equipment, bull service, labor, feed and miscellaneous charges, interest on investment in cows and hauling costs, while calves and manure were credited at a fixed value.

At the New York experiment station in 1915, the average production of 25 cows was 6,919 pounds (3,218 quarts) and the cost of one quart in feed was $0.0196. These figures show that the total cost of producing a quart of milk, today is very near $0.03 a quart, or approximately $1.40 a hundred pounds."

They Look Bad.

When you walk along the street and see the gutters strewn with refuse, it looks bad.

When you see empty bottles decorating the dark corners, that looks bad—and suspicious.

When you see papers blowing around our town it indicates that people are thoughtless and careless. It is bad.

When you see broken glass around under foot it is pure negligence, and is both bad and dangerous.

When you see kitchen garbage dumped into the back yard or tossed over the fence, it looks bad and smells worse.

When you see vacant lots littered with debris of every nature, it, too, looks bad—is offensive to the mind as well as to the eye.

When you see a back yard littered with the accumulations of months and of years, it looks worse than bad.

When you see a front yard down at the heels and going to seed, you wonder—but, then, we'll let you finish the sentence.

Just how bad are we, anyway?

Somerville's White Sox Lose

By Earl Somerville
Somerville's White Sox journeyed to Lake Villa Saturday and played the Allendale and Lake Villa team. The game was played in an hour and fifteen minutes the Sox getting beat by one run as the score stood 10 to 9 in Allendale's favor.

The weather being cool made the game go all the faster to keep warm.

The Antioch boys made a great showing against the Allendale battery.

The lineup as follows:

Antioch	James	C	Allendale	Dix
Somerville	McGavick	2 B	Leonard	Hamlin
Barthel	Naber	1 B	Wallace	Youst
Dunn	Runyard	3 B	Irish	Cooty
Fairman	Dibble	R F	Daniels	Gill
	Dunn	L F
	Fairman	S S

Two base hits—Dix, Somerville, Naber, Youst, Dunn, and Gill.

Three base hits—McGavick and Wallace.

Hit by pitcher—Dibble, Somerville and Dix.

After a Bad Day.

If you are weary after a fatiguing day, on reaching home take ten minutes' rest lying prone on the back. When you rise cleanse the face with cold cream, rubbing lightly across the lines and in an upward direction to correct sagging of the muscles. A cloth wet in very hot water should then be applied, followed by several applications of cold water. You will be surprised to find yourself quite rejuvenated.

BRAKEMAN KILLED BY SOO FREIGHT

Frank J. Doyle of Fond du Lac Meets Death as Train is Speeding North

JURORS' VERDICT, ACCIDENT

Saturday last was a day of mourning for the crew of train No. 21, on the Soo Line when one of their number met a horrible death while on duty, and was a day of sorrow for one home in Fond du Lac, Wis., when word was sent there that Frank J. Doyle, a brakeman on freight train No. 21, had been accidentally killed near the Grimm crossing just south of this village.

Doyle was a young man twenty-seven years of age, unmarried and made his home with his mother at Fond du Lac. He had been employed as a brakeman for nine years and it was in the performance of duty that he came to a tragic death, by falling between a box car and oil tank which he was passing over. It is supposed that he accidentally missed his footing and being a heavy man was unable to hold his weight with one hand, thus causing him to fall to the track, the entire train consisting of twenty-five cars passed over his body mangling it in a horrible manner.

An undertaker was sent for and the remains were brought to this village and placed in the undertaking rooms. Coroner Taylor was notified and the sad news was sent to his relatives. A brother immediately came here and made arrangements for the shipping of the remains to the Wisconsin home in the afternoon.

On account of not being able to get the coroner, the inquest was not held until Tuesday forenoon when it was conducted at the James undertaking establishment.

The jury returned a verdict of accidentally killed while on duty by falling between cars on train No. 21 going north at 2:45 a. m., April 21.

Westerfield Loses in Interest Case

The Supreme court last week handed down an opinion affirming the judgment of the appellate court in the case of the county of Lake, appellee, vs. Carl P. Westerfield, appellant.

(The ruling above referred to means that former Treasurer Westerfield has lost in his suit to retain about $8,000 interest on funds held by him as county money while he was treasurer. This ruling is state-wide in its importance as it establishes a precedent to the effect that a county treasurer cannot legally put county funds out at interest unless the interest is returned to the county exchequer. Mr. Westerfield in claiming he had a right to the interest, followed a course similar to all his predecessors in office. When the question was raised as to his right to keep this interest, he wanted a final ruling of the highest court, and that now has been given. The supreme court sometime ago ruled that Mr. Westerfield could not legally retain the inheritance tax fees and he immediately returned about $7,500 to the county, representing the fees retained during his term. There is now no question but what he will immediately return this $8,000 interest money, because he had merely been waiting for a supreme court ruling.)

Avon Wets Get Leave to Amend

The decision of the supreme court regarding the constitutionality of the women's votes as cast on local option elections may prove an important factor in the content of election filed by the wets of the town of Avon. At least one wet is of the opinion the decision may have some bearing on the case on the strength of this plea, together with the producing of other points which are to be added to the original petition. Judge Persons in county court Wednesday morning gave the wets until April 29 to amend their petition and continued the case to May 3.

There are the four new points which the wets have brought up and which may cause amended clauses in the petition.

BREAKDOWN CAUSES DEATH OF JUDGE JONES

Judge D. L. Jones is dead. Death triumphed over the failing strength of this eminent man and beloved citizen at noon Sunday, removing from Lake county one of the men who had been most prominent in political affairs for fifty years, and who linked the present day activities with the early history of the county.

A general breakdown, which became acute on Ash Wednesday was the cause of the passing of the jurist. Not in the best of health for a long time Judge Jones kept at his business with as great vim as many who were decades younger, and he was as familiar a figure in the courthouse until two months before his death as was any attorney in the county.

The veteran of the Civil war proved as valiant a fighter in his last weeks as he was on the battlefields in the '60s. Despite his rapidly weakening condition he would not give up, and it was not until a fortnight ago that the Reaper gained the upper hand. During the last two weeks the patient was unable to take any nourishment whatsoever, and his strength failed as a consequence.

In the demise of Dewitt L. Jones, the community has lost a character who will long be remembered, for few men were better known or more respected. His long service as county judge made him a familiar figure in Lake county affairs and he numbered his friends by the scores.

While the deceased had passed the three-score-and-ten mark three years ago, he seemed of a younger generation than many men his age. His record as a Union soldier was the factor which joined Judge Jones to the early days of Waukegan.

Born in this county, in the township of Warren, Sept. 25, 1842, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Jones, pioneer settlers, the deceased spent practically all his years in the same community.

Enlisting in the 146th Ill., Mr. Jones served till the close of the Civil war. He was content to follow his flag as a private in the ranks, and the spirit which was shown during the service for his country never flagged after his return to private life. The deceased was an ardent worker for all things patriotic.

The funeral was held Tuesday and the following pallbearers were: Judge C. C. Edwards, W. C. Upton, Elam Clark, Thos. Durst, Wm. Farmer and L. P. Hanna.

James H. King
MADE CHAIRMAN OF COUTY BOARD

By a vote of 21 to 6 James H. King of Lake Forest, Supervisor of Shields township, was elected chairman of the county board, his opponent being Supervisor Edward Conrad of Waukegan.

But one ballot was taken after which the informal ballot was made unanimous on motion of Conrad.

On motion of Bairstow, H. C. W. Meyer Supervisor from Fremont was chosen temporary chairman after Clerk Hendee had read the call. Mr. Meyer called for the informal ballot. Bairstow of Waukegan nominated Mr. King; Martin Newport nominated Conrad. The vote followed, the tellers being Stratton Kirchner and Cropp.

In seconding King's nomination, Clark of Deerfield said it was an honor and pleasure to be able to do so because Mr. King stood high in the community and holds the utmost confidence of the people of Lake Forest; that he has been most favorably known by members of the board and that he felt as chairman he would fill the position with credit and efficiency.

STORIES from the BIG CITIES

Scene in Savannah Brought Back the Old Days

SAVANNAH, GA.—Recently there was a scene in Savannah which brought back to many older residents the flourishing days of slavery, when a man's wealth was gauged by the number of negroes he owned. A group of former slaves gathered in front of the municipal building to receive from a committee of Savannah citizens gifts of a substantial nature that had been provided for them by the business men along the famous Bay street, where so many wealthy cotton factors and others do business. None was less than eighty years old and some claimed to be "ninety goin' on a hundred." They were mostly men, but there were one or two women among them. Women who as young and healthy black "wenches" had been worth from $1,500 to $2,000 each during the days before the sixties, when negroes were valued solely by the money their healthy bodies would bring if offered for sale in the slave marts at New Orleans, Richmond, Milledgeville, Ga., and other places, were there, as were many broken and decrepit men.

Some of the old negroes in the group about the entrance of the city hall on this bright day probably remembered being brought to Savannah by their owners and placed in safekeeping underneath the Pulaski hotel, a Savannah hostelry, about one hundred years old. This hotel is within a stone's throw of the city hall, where this year's bounty was distributed, and it had a great reputation in the days before the sixties as one of the big hotels of the South, where a gentleman and a slave owner might carry his charges and turn them over to the proprietor and his lackeys, with the knowledge that when the time came for him to continue his journey his men and women would be turned back to him, well fed and well cared for. The Pulaski made a specialty of this kind of patronage, and today its cellar, far under the ground, is honeycombed with slave cells. They are of sufficient size to be comfortable, but are in most cases as dark as Egyptian blackness itself. Light seldom penetrates into their deep recesses. More than a hundred remain, and in the times when space was at a premium for this kind of entertainment there were more.

Chicago Slicker Has an Adventure in New York

NEW YORK.—Leonard Anderson is one of those slickers from Chicago who just adores his profession of detecting. He came back the other day after a year's visit to relatives in Norway and he just chuckled all the way over on the boat over how he was going to fool all the crooks in Gotham.

While in Norway he did as the Norwegians sometimes do and raised a crop of whiskers which afforded him a disguise that would not result in some crook shouting "take 'em off, Len, we know you." He was aching to get to work behind his King Lear and took a room at a cheap hotel near the steamship piers. He donned an immigrant's cap and started joyously to Sherlock Holmes around. Two affable strangers fell into conversation with him. He could hardly keep a straight face it was that ludicrous. In answer to their sympathetic and interested questioning, he informed them that he had a roll of $166 in his pocket. It was a delicious situation, indeed, and he felt it was a big joke.

That is he felt it for a second or so and then somehow someone turned off the sunshine and he didn't feel anything because one of the affable strangers affably tapped him on the bean with a restless blackjack and the other removed the money and verified the amount.

Anderson identified himself with little trouble at the hospital, promptly visited a barber and took the first train in the direction of Chicago.

Northampton Rooster Captures a Bad Raccoon

NORTHAMPTON, MASS.—A desperate battle between two coons and two prize roosters broke the quiet of Northampton early one morning. The coons had been the object of a frenzied two-day search by the members of the Masonic street engine company, from whose large and varied menagerie of pets they had escaped. The battle-field was the farm henry of J. J. Kennedy on King street, and the other combatants were two of his prize roosters.

It was in the small hours of the morning when the two miscreants sneaked around the henry door and pecked in. There, roosting in neat, orderly rows, was their breakfast. They stealthily entered. Each picked his first choice, in each case a large rooster. One spring, and things started. Round and round the struggle raged. The multiplicity of wives of each of the defendants, seeing their noble lords and masters so beset, stood on their toes, fluttering their wings and squawking. The squawks woke Mr. Kennedy, who immediately hurried reinforcements.

When he arrived at the battlefield, one of the roosters was hors de combat and his assailant had made good his escape. The other coon was vainly trying to, but with an infuriated rooster firmly attached to the end of his tail, even a wily coon hasn't time to think just where the door was when he came in. The proverbial bulldog has nothing on Mr. Kennedy's roosters once they get a good "holt."

The rooster's bill was pried apart and the coon released. The penitent firemen received their pet again in good shape, except for a sore tail, in exchange for the price of one perfectly good prize rooster, suitable only for boiling. The firemen are watching for their other coon, the coon in captivity is contemptuously watching the end of his tail and swearing off on chickens, and the other poultry fanciers of Northampton are double-locking their coops and keeping a weather eye open for early morning squawks.

New York Women Are Drilling for Possible War

NEW YORK.—Major Thiry, trim and severe in his regimentals, stood in the door of the Ninth Artillery armory, in Fourteenth street near Sixth avenue, the other night and with mingled pain and disdain upon his face watched the invasion of the fair. Girls, scores of girls, and women, old women, divided into squads, marched and counter-marched upon the polished floor, directed by smiling young soldiers.

In the middle stood Gen. (Mrs.) J. Hungerford Milbank, head of the American Woman's League for Self-Defense, with a clanking sword at her side and martial fire blazing from her eyes. Major Thiry glanced from the general to Col. (Miss) Ida Vera Simonton, whose khaki skirt, designed originally for the exploring trips she has made through the jungles of Africa, was much shorter than he approved. He snorted.

"What I want to know is," he said, "what're these women going to do with this. What does this mean?"

An eager member of the league informed him that if war came General Milbank would not hesitate to take her companies of girl soldiers right into the field—yes, into Mexico if necessary.

FEARED SHE WOULD BE BURIED ALIVE

Strange Provision Made in Will of Mrs. Laura Hemans White.

Los Angeles, Cal.—The will of Mrs. Laura Hemans White, who died in Pittsburgh nearly a year ago, has been received by Public Administrator Bryson, in view of the distribution of the estate in Los Angeles county. The city of Los Angeles desires to purchase property belonging to the estate, at 3721 Downey avenue, now North Broadway, for school purposes.

Before the deal could be closed it was necessary to have the will, because a clause bequeathed the property to Mrs. Apollonia P. Melber for life. After Mrs. Melber's death the property is to go to Mrs. Katherine L. Hahn, a niece of Mrs. Melber, and daughter of Victor Hahn.

Must Be Kept Until Signs of Decomposition Appear.

Because of her fear of a premature burial Mrs. White provided unusual means to determine if the spark of life had left her body before it was cremated. In her will she declared:

"Having been all my life subject to bondage through fear of premature burial I will my body be kept until evident signs of decomposition declare themselves—at least a week—that it be visited and carefully inspected three times daily, for which the person performing this office shall, upon making affidavit that it has been faithfully performed, receive the sum of $50. Just before cremation it shall be stabbed three times through the heart by a duly accredited physician, who shall receive therefor the sum of $20."

A trust provision prohibits distribution of the estate for ten years. Among the holdings are a Bakersfield ranch, lots in San Diego and lots at Sunset Beach and La Canada Park.

THIEF RETURNS BABY'S BANK

Robs House, Conscience Troubles Him and He Brings Back Child's Hoard.

Sierra Vista, Cal.—A thief with a conscience entered the home of Clark Rubido here the other day, and, after decamping with valuables amounting to $100, returned to the burglarized house and deposited a child's bank containing two dollars in pennies, which had been part of the loot, on the front porch.

The Rubido family visited friends in Los Angeles that day and about noon a neighbor, Mrs. Caroline Martin, saw a well-dressed young man carrying a suit case walk up to the front door of the Rubido home, fumble with the lock a moment and walk in.

Mrs. Martin thought the stranger was probably a friend of the Rubidos, and, when the young man reappeared some time after, still carrying the suit case, she told him that the Rubido family was passing the day in the city. The young man thanked her and hurried on.

Half an hour later Mrs. Martin saw the young man come back and deposit something on the front porch of the house.

When the Rubidos returned they found that the pleasant-faced young man had carried away all their silver, several articles of jewelry and $30. The baby's penny bank, which had been returned, was about the only movable valuable not taken.

MAN DIES THRICE IN DAY

Comes to Life in Hospital and Struggles With Shroud That Swathed Him.

Denver, Colo.—Death comes but once to the ordinary man, but to Charles Gallagher it came three times before it decided to remain. Three times in one day in the County hospital nurses and physicians pronounced Charles Gallagher dead—only to learn in two of the instances that the evidences of death had been false. Twice Gallagher came to life to struggle with the shroud which swathed him, and it was not until rigor mortis stiffened the body following the third death that the authorities felt safe in turning the body over to the coroner. Gallagher, a farm hand, weighing nearly 300 pounds, fell from a hay wagon and broke his back.

Standardizing Gas Safety.
The work begun some months ago in connection with a national gas safety code has made good progress, and the United States bureau of standards is now receiving the co-operation of several engineering societies which have appointed representatives for the purpose. This gas safety code will relate to both the life and fire hazard and hence will cover the ground which, in the case of corresponding work in the electrical field, is covered by two codes—the underwriters' fire code and the national electrical safety code, which is being prepared by the bureau.

Elephant on His Hands.
An overly ambitious Hindu, who had acquired the proverbial elephant that "ate all night and ate all day," sought to rid himself of the voracious beast by unloading him on a fellow native. The prospective buyer was willing to do business on the basis of eight rupees less than the asking price; the would-be seller would knock off only 20 per cent. There remained a difference of seven rupees between their terms, and the pachyderm failed to change owners.

Can you tell how much the native was offered for his animal?—Exchange.

A New Remedy for Kidney, Bladder and all Uric Acid Troubles.

Dear Readers:
I appeal to those of you who are bothered with kidney and bladder trouble, that you give up the use of harsh salts or alcoholic medicines and in their place take a short treatment of "Anuric." I have taken many of Dr. Pierce's medicines for the past twenty-five years with good results. I suffered with kidney trouble for some years. I recently heard of the newest discovery of Dr. Pierce, namely, his "Anuric" Tablets. After using same I am completely cured of my kidney trouble. A doctor pronounced me a well preserved woman for my age, all due, I believe, to Dr. Pierce's aid. MRS. MELINDA E. MILLER.

If you suffer from backache, lumbago, rheumatism, get "Anuric" now.

Small Returns.
"I get a nickel every time I take a dose of medicine," said Tommy Twobble.

"Ain't you got a lot o' money?" asked little Sammy Dubwalte, a delicate child.

"Now! It's just my luck. I ain't hardly ever sick."

HELD AS TRAITOR U. S. ARMY TO STAY

SIR CASEMENT CAPTURED LAND-ING GERMAN ARMS IN IRELAND.

KAISER'S SHIP IS DESTROYED

Separatist Leader Attempted to Smuggle Guns and Ammunition into Country—Worked for the German Cause.

London, April 26.—Sir Roger Casement, the Irish separatist leader, has been captured from a German ship which attempted to land arms in Ireland and was sunk, it was officially announced.

The official announcement says:
"During the period between the afternoon of April 20 and the afternoon of April 21 an attempt to land arms and ammunition in Ireland was made by a vessel under the guise of a neutral merchant ship, but which in reality was a German auxiliary, in conjunction with a German submarine.

"The auxiliary sank and a number of prisoners were made, among whom was Sir Roger Casement."

Sir Roger, a knight and formerly a British pensioner, has been a source of concern to the British government since a few months after the declaration of war, when it became known that he had gone to Berlin and was working in the German cause.

It was then reported that he had opened negotiations between the German government and the anti-English party in Ireland. It was said he had obtained assurances that if a German army invaded Ireland all native institutions would be respected.

Early in 1915 his pension of £400, granted to him by the government as a retired consular official, was canceled on charges that he was disloyal.
Shortly afterward he published in Berlin an open letter to Sir Edward Grey, British foreign minister, charging the British government with offering his servant a bribe of £5,000 for his capture or death.

He was also understood to have proposed an alliance between Germany, Ireland and the United States, but this was never confirmed.

WILL EXECUTE PABLO LOPEZ

Carranzistas Captured Villista Near Santa Ysabel—Thousands to Witness Outlaw's Death.

El Paso, Tex., April 26.—Public execution in the plaza at Chihuahua City
is to end the career of Pablo Lopez,
the Villa bandit captured Saturday
near Santa Ysabel, according to passengers arriving here from Chihuahua.
A similar fate will be meted out to the three men who were taken with Lopez.

The four executions were set for today, it was said. Thousands are expected to witness them. Lopez is among those charged with having participated in the Columbus raid.
He is being held in jail at Chihuahua
not only to give opportunity for American officers to make certain of his identity but also in order that witnesses might be summoned from Columbus.

SCOTT TO MEET OBREGON

American and Mexican General Will Confer on Border This Week.

Washington, April 26.—Further developments in the pursuit of Villa and the relations between the United States and the de facto government of Mexico now await personal discussion of these subjects by the senior military advisors of the two governments.

A conference between Maj. Gen.
Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the American army, and Gen. Alvaro Obregon, minister of war of the de facto government, was arranged on Monday to take place either in Juarez or El Paso.

General Scott is now in San Antonio, Tex., and General Obregon is thought to be already on his way north from Mexico City.

CHAIRMAN M'COMBS TO QUIT

Notifies President That He Will Be Unable to Serve If Chosen.

Washington, April 26.—William F.
McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, has made it plain to President Wilson that he will be unable to serve, even though he might be chosen to do so, as chairman of the committee after the St. Louis convention. Mr. McCombs communicated his intention to retire to the president and the latter has sent the chairman a letter expressing regret because he feels that he must take this step.

Bandit Robs Bank of $5,000.
Bingham Canyon, Utah, April 26.—

into the Copper State bank here, and after binding and gagging J. W. Keeler, the cashier, and locking him in a vault, escaped with $5,000.

SECRETARY BAKER ANNOUNCES PURSUIT OF VILLA WILL CONTINUE.

MEETING HELD AT CAPITAL

Redisposition of Forces Recommended by Funston for Purpose of Recu-peration and Pending Opportunities for Co-Operation With Carranza.

Washington, April 25.—General
Funston has recommended a redisposi-tion of American troops in Mexico on lines approved by Secretary of War Baker. This announcement was made after a conference between President Wilson, Secretary Baker and General
Eliss, acting chief of staff.

It was stated on high authority that no recommendation for withdrawal of the troops had come from Major General Scott, chief of staff, who has been confering with General Funston, or from any other officer of the army on the Mexican border, and that there is no intention on the part of the American government to withdraw them at this time.

Secretary Baker issued the following statement after the conference:
"General Funston has recommended
a redisposition of the forces in Mexico for the purpose of recuperation and pending opportunity for further cooperation with the forces of the de facto government of Mexico. His recommendation has been approved and its execution left to his discretion."

El Paso, Tex., April 25.—General Gavira, commander of Carranza troops at Juarez, has received, it is said, a telegram from Mexico City stating that disorder prevails in the capital, the result of an open breach between Carranza and his minister of war, Alvaro Obregon.

General Obregon has 10,000 of his own troops, mostly Yaqui Indians, with him in Mexico City.

TEACH KINDNESS TO ANIMALS

American Humane Association Has Planned Nation-Wide Movement
Along This Line.

Albany, N. Y., April 24.—May 21 is to be observed by hundreds of churches
throughout the United States as "Humane Sunday." At this time clergymen are being urged to preach special sermons on the subject of kindness.
The movement is under the direction of the American Humane association of this city, which is prepared to send out a large amount of literature dealing with this subject. A most valuable leaflet has been prepared for clergymen which may be had on request.

The week of May 15-20, inclusive,
will be known as "Be Kind to Animals' Week" by societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals. During this week every effort will be made to emphasize the economic and moral value of treating animals humanely.
Boy scouts and camp fire girls are cooperating to make the movement a success.

Work-horse parades, common dog shows, illustrated lectures and the distribution of humane literature are a few of the special plans laid out by the local societies. The anti-cruelty movement is making very rapid progress throughout the United States. There are now 562 anti-cruelty societies, a slight gain over last year. These organizations handled cases involving 212,215 children and 2,394,721 animals during 1915.

Granite City, Ill., April 25.—Although eleven men and one woman are said to be missing, no effort was made to search the ruins of the four-story lodging house destroyed by fire
for fear brick walls now standing

PROTEST BY JAPAN

GOVERNMENT OBJECTS TO THE
PHRASEOLOGY OF THE IMMI-GRATION BILL.

"IS REFLECTION ON NATION"

President Wilson Requested by Emperor's Ambassador to Eliminate Coupling Japanese With Hindu Nationalities.

Washington, April 24.—President Wilson was asked by Viscount Sute-mi Chinda, the Japanese ambassador, to have the phraseology of the Burnett immigration bill, now before the senate immigration committee, changed so that the apparent coupling of the Japanese people with those of Hindu nationality would be eliminated. The ambassador had talked the matter over with Secretary Lansing, and, at the request of the latter, asked the president today to take up the matter with Senator Smith of South Carolina, chairman of the committee. The president is expected to ask that the bill be changed to carry the language agreed upon in this connection two years ago when a similar proposition came up.

It is understood that the Japanese ambassador called the president's attention to the fact that the Japanese government had agreed to restrict coolie emigration to the United States at the time of the original California immigration dispute and protested that now to write a provision of this character into the bill would be an implied reflection upon the good faith of the Japanese nation. And the apparent inclusion of all of the Japanese people with the Hindu class, the ambassador explained, would be a serious affront to the Japanese.

REPEAL OF FREE SUGAR WINS

Section of Law Nullified by Senate and Duty Will Be Continued—Prevents Loss of Revenue.

Washington, April 25.—The senate
on Saturday approved the house bill repealing the free-sugar section of the tariff law, under which sugar would have gone on the free list May 1. By a vote of 59 to 10 the senate receded from an amendment which it had passed extending the existing duty of one cent a pound for four years, and which the house refused to agree to in conference.

The repeal, sought by the administration to keep up revenues, now needs only the president's signature to become effective. The one cent duty yields about $50,000,000 annually. Senate Democrats, finding the house unyielding in its stand for a flat repeal, decided at a caucus to yield and avert any possibility of sugar going on the free list even for a limited period.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash
out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach,
can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy
by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing
of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from any store that handles drugs which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Adv.

tories of Germany.

SPEAKS UP FOR CANADA

And No Wonder—Renting His

Per Acre.

So many Americans now have personal knowledge of Canada that false reports concerning this country are being continually corrected by Americans themselves who know the facts, and who are too fair-minded to let a false statement go unchallenged. A case in point arises out of a statement supposed to be made by a resident of Alberta, and published recently in the Spokesman-Review, of Spokane, in which the condition of settlers in this country was painted in a very bad way indeed. The writer of this attack on Canada refused to let his name be known, so it can be taken for what it is worth, but Mr. S. L.
Wallace, of N 4723 Crestline, Spokane, who lived for some years in Western Canada, came to the defense of the country in the following letter which was published in the Spokesman-Review of February 11, 1916:—

"To the Editor of the Spokesman-Review:
"In Sunday's Spokesman-Review was a letter from a man in Alberta to the chamber of commerce, asking that something be done to keep Americans from going to Canada, and saying that that government was run by the railroads, banks and manufacturers; that once a man got there he never could get away. Had this man published that letter over his own signature
there is no doubt but he could get out of Canada.

No country will do as much to help a man to get on his feet, if he tries to help himself, as Canada. I know of the government helping people to provisions, feed, seed grain and fuel, and charging only cost of delivery to the nearest town and 6 per cent. What more could a man ask?

I lived five years in Southern Saskatchewan and earned a patent to 320 acres of as good land as I ever saw.
I have raised over 80 bushels of oats
on sod, 40 bushels of wheat, and 20 of flax to the acre. Until I lost my health I never was better satisfied anywhere. I had my land rented this last year for one-third. It brought me almost $8.50 per acre, or $1,143.91 for 135 acres.

This man says he loves the land his fathers died for. So do I, and I love the land that gave me my home.

WILSON SAYS GERMAN CRISIS IS NEAR

President Tells Congress He Has Notified Kaiser Break Must Come Unless Methods of Submarine Warfare Are Changed.

House of Representatives, the Capitol, Washington, April 20.—Sharply indicting Germany for its use of submarines against merchant vessels, President Wilson yesterday, before a joint session of congress, issued public notice to the world that unless that government changes its methods the United States will have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations.

"The history in the making," was witnessed by one of the largest gatherings that has ever been jammed into the historic chamber of the house of representatives. Every single inch of available space was occupied, while literally thousands were turned away.

There was no questioning the seriousness of the president's position. His voice, somewhat husky, penetrated every corner of the room, and the message was emphasized with an expression that showed its author was fearful of the outcome. That seriousness was shared by the audience, the usual applause given the president's utterances being absent.

The message in every sense was an ultimatum. True, it contained no time limit within which reply must be made. But it flatly insisted that the German submarine warfare has reached the stage when this government will no longer tolerate it.

The German explanations, previously made, have been accepted in good faith, the president said, in the hope that that government would finally be able to so order and control the acts of its naval commanders as to square its policy with the position of humanity as embodied in the "law of nations."

The United States has been willing to wait, the president said, "until the significance of the fact became absolutely unmistakable and susceptible of but one interpretation." That point, he said, has "now unhappily been reached."

Text of President's Address.

Following is the complete text of the president's address:

"Gentlemen of the Congress: A situation has arisen in the foreign relations of the country of which it is my plain duty to inform you very frankly.

"It will be recalled that in February, 1915, the Imperial German government announced its intention to treat the waters surrounding Great Britain and Ireland as embraced within the zone of war and to destroy all merchant ships owned by its enemies that might be found within any part of that portion of the high seas, and that it warned all vessels, of neutral as well as of belligerent ownership, to keep out of the waters it had thus prescribed, or else enter them at their peril. The government of the United States earnestly protested. It took the position that such a policy could not be pursued without the practical certainty of gross and palpable violations of the law of nations, particularly if submarine craft were to be employed as its instruments, inasmuch as the rules prescribed by that law, rules founded upon principles of humanity and established for the protection of the lives of noncombatants at sea could not in the nature of the case be observed by such vessels. It based its protest on the ground that persons of neutral nationality and vessels of neutral ownership would be exposed to extreme and intolerable risks, and that no right to close any part of the high seas against their use or to expose them to such risks could lawfully be asserted by any belligerent government. The law of nations in these matters, upon which the government of the United States based its protest, is not of recent origin or set up by convention. It is based, on the contrary, upon manifest and imperative principles of humanity and has long been established with the approval and by the express assent of all civilized nations.

Protest Was Disregarded.

"Notwithstanding the earnest protest of our government, the Imperial German government at once proceeded to carry out the policy it has announced. It expressed the hope that the dangers involved, at any rate the dangers to neutral vessels, would be reduced to a minimum by the instructions which it had issued to its submarine commanders, and assured the government of the United States that it would take every possible precaution, both to respect the rights of neutrals and to safeguard the lives of noncombatants.

"What has actually happened in the year which has since elapsed has shown that those hopes were not justified; those assurances inasceptible of being fulfilled. In pursuance of the policy of submarine warfare against the commerce of its adversaries, thus announced and entered upon by the Imperial German government in

despite of the solemn protest of this government, the commanders of German undersea vessels have attacked merchant ships with greater and greater activity, not only upon the high seas surrounding Great Britain and Ireland, but wherever they encounter them, in a way that has grown more and more ruthless, more and more indiscriminate as the months have gone by, less and less observant of restraints of any kind; and have delivered their attacks without compunction against vessels of every nationality and bound upon every sort of errand. Vessels of neutral ownership, bound from neutral port to neutral port, have been destroyed along with vessels of belligerent ownership, in constantly increasing numbers. Sometimes the merchantman attacked has been warned and summoned to surrender before being fired on or torpedoed; sometimes passengers or crews have been vouchsafed the poor security of being allowed to take to the ship's boats before she was sent to the bottom. But again and again no warning has been given, no escape even to the ship's boats allowed to those on board. What this government foresaw must happen has happened. Tragedy has followed tragedy on the seas in such fashion, with such attendant circumstances, as to make it grossly evident that warfare of such a sort, if warfare it be, cannot be carried on with the most palpable violation of the dictates alike of right and of humanity. Whatever the disposition and intention of the Imperial German government, it has manifestly proved impossible for it to keep such methods of attack upon the commerce of its enemies within bounds set by either the reason or the heart of mankind.

As to Armed Merchantmen.

"In February of the present year the Imperial German government informed this government and the other neutral governments of the world that it had reason to believe that the government of Great Britain had armed all merchant vessels of British ownership and had given them secret orders to attack any submarine of the enemy they might encounter upon the seas, and that the Imperial German government felt justified in the circumstances in treating all armed merchantmen of belligerent ownership as auxiliary vessels of war, which it would have the right to destroy without warning.

"The law of nations has long recognized the right of merchantmen to carry arms for protection and to use them to repel attack, though to use them, in such circumstances, at their own risks; but the Imperial German government claimed the right to set these understandings aside in circumstances which it deemed extraordinary. Even the terms in which it announced its purpose thus still further relaxed the restraints it had previously professed its willingness and desire to put upon the operations of its submarines carried the plain implication that at least vessels which were not armed would still be exempt from destruction without warning and that personal safety would be accorded their passengers and crews; but even that limitation, if it was ever practicable to observe it, has in fact constituted no check at all upon the destruction of ships of every sort.

"Again and again the Imperial German government has given this government its solemn assurances that at least passenger ships would not be thus dealt with, and yet it has again and again permitted its undersea commanders to disregard these assurances with entire impunity. Great liners like the Lusitania and the Arabic and mere ferry boats like the Sussex have been attacked without a moment's warning, sometimes before they had even become aware that they were in the presence of an armed vessel of the enemy, and the lives of noncombatants, passengers and crew, have been sacrificed wholesale, in a manner which the government of the United States cannot but regard as wanton and without the slightest color of justification. No limit of any kind has in fact been set to the indiscriminate pursuit and destruction of merchantmen of all kinds and nationalities within the waters, constantly extending in area, where those operations have been carried on, and the roll of Americans who have lost their lives on ships thus attacked and destroyed has grown month by month until the ominous toll has mounted into the hundreds.

Sussex a Late Example.

"One of the latest and most shocking instances of this method of warfare was that of the destruction of the French cross-channel steamer Sussex. It must stand forth, as the sinking of the steamer Lusitania did, as so singularly tragical and unjustifiable as to constitute a truly terrible example of the inhumanity of submarine warfare as the commanders of German vessels have for the past twelve months been conducting it. If this instance stood alone, some explanation, some disavowal by the German government, some evidence of criminal mistake or wilful disobedience on the part of the commander of the vessel that fired the torpedo might be sought or entertained; but unhappily it does not stand alone. Recent events make the conclusion inevitable that it is only one instance, even though it be one of the most extreme and distressing instances, of the spirit and method of warfare which the Imperial German government has mistakenly adopted, and which from the first exposed that government to the reproach of thrusting all neutral rights aside in pursuit of its immediate objects.

"The government of the United States has been very patient. At every stage of this distressing experience of tragedy after tragedy in which its own citizens were involved it had sought to be restrained from any extreme course of action or of protest by a thoughtful consideration of the extraordinary circumstances of this unprecedented war and actuated in all it said or did by the sentiments of genuine friendship which the people of the United States have always entertained and continue to entertain toward the German nation. It has, of course, accepted the successive explanations and assurances of the Imperial German government as given in entire sincerity and good faith, and has hoped, even against hope, that it would prove to be possible for the German government so to order and control the acts of its naval commanders as to square its policy with the principles of humanity as embodied in the law of nations. It has been willing to wait until the significance of the facts became absolutely unmistakable and susceptible of but one interpretation.

"That point has now unhappily been reached. The facts are susceptible of but one interpretation. The Imperial German government has been unable to put any limit or restraints upon its warfare against either freight or passenger ships. It has therefore become painfully evident that the position which this government took at the very outset is inevitable, namely, that the use of submarines for the destruction of an enemy's commerce is of necessity, because of the very character of the vessels employed and the employment of course involves, incompatible with the principles of humanity, the long-established and incontrovertible rights of neutrals, and the sacred immunities of non-combatants.

Virtual Ultimatum Sent.

"I have deemed it my duty, therefore, to say to the Imperial German government that if it is still its purpose to prosecute ruthless and indiscriminate warfare against vessels of commerce by the use of submarines, notwithstanding the now demonstrated impossibility of conducting that warfare in accordance with what the government of the United States must consider the sacred and indisputable rules of international law and the universally recognized dictates of humanity, the government of the United States is at last forced to the conclusion that there is but one course it can pursue; and that unless the Imperial German government should now immediately declare and effect an abandonment of its present methods of warfare against passenger and freight-carrying vessels this government can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations with the government of the German empire altogether.

"This decision I have arrived at with the keenest regret; the possibility of the action contemplated I am sure all thoughtful Americans will look forward to with unaffected reluctance. But we cannot forget that we are in some sort and by the force of circumstances the responsible spokesmen of the rights of humanity, and that we cannot remain silent while those rights seem in process of being utterly swept away in the maelstrom of this terrible war. We owe it to a due regard for our own rights as a nation, to our sense of duty as a representative of the rights of neutrals the world over, and to a joint conception of the rights of mankind to take this stand now with the utmost solemnity and firmness.

"I have taken it, and taken it in the confidence that it will meet with your approval and support. All sober-minded men must unite in hoping that the Imperial German government, which has in other circumstances stood as the champion of all that we are now contending for in the interest of humanity, may recognize the justice of our demands and meet them in the spirit in which they are made."

Indirectly.

COAL EMBARGO HITS DUTCH

British Order to Seize German Fuel Causes Consternation to Holland Shipping Circles.

The Hague, April 20.—The British order making German bunker coal liable to seizure has caused consternation to Dutch shipping circles because they very largely use German coal, as the English product is not obtainable in sufficient quantities. Dutch coal is deficient in steam-raising qualities,

The new measure affects steamers plying between Holland and North America to a lesser degree because they will be able to fill their bunkers at American ports, although they will lose 10 per cent of their cargo space, taking on enough coal for a double voyage. It especially affects, however, ships voyaging to South American ports and the Dutch colonies.

The HOME BEAUTIFUL

Flowers and Shrubbery
Their Care and Cultivation

How Beautiful is a Flower Farm.

HAVE A FLOWER FARM

By E. VAN BENTHUYSEN.

The demand for choice flowers never falls and the big cities of the United States sell enormous quantities. They must be fine though.

The city man who wishes flowers for a special decoration does not care how much they cost if they are the best that can be grown.

Flower farming is an agreeable occupation. But little help is required. The costly adjuncts, such as curing, drying, housing and storing are not required. Plants increase in value, and once a place is going it continues to increase in productive ability with each year.

Flower farming does not require rich soil, but it must be quick and responsive. Some of the requirements for success, however, demand that your farm be located near a railway station and should have the convenience of a telephone, ice or a cold spring, and a good road to town.

Start in a small way. Be content to buy from 100 to 500 plants each year until your plants get old enough to divide and build your stock from. By starting in a small way you will acquire the necessary experience to cope with the situation and understand the workings on a larger scale. No book knowledge can compare with a year's actual experience.

There are many plants that increase prodigiously. Others take several years to be strong productive plants. The hydrangea will pay for itself in a single year. The peony takes longer to arrive at perfection.

If planted in the fall the peony will bloom the first season, but young plants are apt to be too quick in getting out in the spring and the buds may be injured by late frosts. One thousand bushes three years old will produce 30,000 flowers.

The dahlia is a good flower to grow. It can be planted June 1, come into bloom about August 15, and will be in full bloom by September. It is a free, easy early bloomer, has bright colors, long stems and good plump tubers.

The peony must not be overlooked. Its requirements are simple, yet at a few periods they are very easily damaged. Plants that are kept dormant by being dug in the fall may be planted until June with fine success. When planting peonies in clayey ground they should be set about four inches deep, but in light, sandy soil or loamy soil five or six inches deep.

Never use much manure the first year on newly planted peonies, and never overmanure them. Cultivate them about three inches deep, then apply about one inch of manure and work well into the soil in the spring.

Plant peonies in the bright sunshine away from trees that are liable to shade them or whose roots may sap the plant food in the soil where they are planted.

Peonies are grown from a division of old plants and also from seed. It takes from five to eight years to come into full bloom from seed.

To get the best results from phlox they should be planted new each fall or spring and given plenty of water while in bloom.

The Beauty of Homes and Streets Can Be Enhanced by Planting Hedges Instead of Having Fences Around the Home Lot.

SLEUTHS NABBED AS BUNCO MEN

New York Inspector and Assistant Arrested While on Vacation.

BROUGHT BEFORE CHIEF

Produce Credentials and Chief, Pop-Eyed, Apologizes and Leads to Nearest Swinging Doors—Captors Take to Woods.

Jacksonville, Fla.—"There's too many confidence men about our fair city," quoth Chief of Police F. C. Roach to his detective force. "I don't care as long as they confine their infernal machinations to the Yankees who infest us, but some of our best families have been beguiled. They must be arrested."

Having delivered his ukase, he nodded to his detective force, which immediately went out and arrested Inspector Joseph A. Faurot and Sergeant William Haley of the New York detective bureau. Setting a cop to catch a cop cost Chief Roach unnumbered apologies and countless bottles of wine.

"There's some mistake," Faurot gasped when his collar was grasped in accepted movie style. "I am Inspector Faurot of the New York police. This gentleman—" Looked Real Desperate.

"Is Napoleon Bonaparte," the wily southern sleuth interrupted. "You all are confidence men. We've been trailing you. You're that fellow Wallingford. I've seen his picture in our Rogues' gallery. This guy is your comecoon. It ain't a bit of use to argue—you can tell your troubles to the chief."

Neither of the New York men tried further, but suffered themselves to be led ignominiously to where Chief Roach sat in state.

"We spotted these fellows as soon as they stepped off the New York boat," their captors chorused proudly. "They've been hangin' around the exclusive hotels, looking for gullible southerners. Look 'em up, chief. They're real des'p'd."

Roach surveyed the culprits. He frowned upon Faurot's heavy black mustache and his faultless attire. He snarled at Haley's expression of simple innocence.

"A bunco-steerer and his comecoon," he pronounced. "Look them up. Our homes must be protected."

Then the Chief Bought.

Then the bunco steerer produced from his vest a gold police badge and laid it on the desk before the chief. His comecoon flashed out a similar but less ornate trinket, which he also displayed before Roach, who suddenly became pop-eyed.

The chief collared his captives and led them sadly toward the nearest pair of swinging doors.

"I have other credentials, chief," the inspector explained suavely. "If they are not sufficient, wire New York."

Before Chief Roach had recovered sufficiently to be articulate both detectives had passed out into the night. Shortly thereafter they tripped over Mason-Dixon's line, heading in the general direction of Toronto.

Inspector Faurot recently obtained fifteen days' leave, without pay, on account of ill health. He started South immediately, taking with him Sergeant Haley, a finger print expert on his staff.

Mistook Girl's Leg for Umbrella.

New York.—Frederick Hess was arrested upon complaint of Miss Beatrice Diemhenhaus, who declared the young man entered a street car in which she was seated, edged his way through the crowd of passengers and pulled her leg twice. "It was only once, your honor," Hess protested. "It looked like an umbrella with a silk covering and I reached down to pick it up." The magistrate found Hess guilty.

Gathering Food for Bees. A clever scheme, that appears to have originated in Scotland, is to gather pollen from flowers with a vacuum cleaner for use as food for bees. The heather on wide stretches of moors provides ample supplies, and it is said that in some places the young bees were mostly reared on this pollen.

GOOD ROADS and HOW TO GET THEM

Learning by Experience

It is significant that in those states where improved road building has reached its highest development, we find the greatest mileage of asphaltic highways.

In states where road building is comparatively new or at least has not made great progress, we are likely to find roads that cost more than first-class asphalt construction—and yet do not turn out so well either for the taxpayer or the road user.

Of course we are not under any obligation to copy the methods of other states. But it would be foolish to ignore the teachings of their experience.

Massachusetts is conceded to be the leader in road building. The old Commonwealth had the first highway department, and some of her highway officials have been in office for 15 years. They are building roads now on the basis of experience—not guess work. And their roads are costing less to build and less to maintain than our hard-surface roads.

Massachusetts Knows How.

Massachusetts has found out how to construct asphalt macadam highways that will carry the heaviest road traffic in the United States.

Massachusetts' methods are simple, and any one can duplicate her results with a little care. Wherever in this state there is a particularly heavy traffic road to be built but one form of construction is followed. This is asphalt macadam built with hard stone and asphalt from the Bermudez lake of Venezuela. One example of such construction is the Revere-Saugus turnpike, which ranks as the heaviest traveled road in the state. The report of the Massachusetts Highway Commission says that this turnpike "probably receives more varied and extensive traffic than any other in the state."

It was resurfaced with Bermudez asphalt macadam in 1910, and two years later the report of the Commission stated that "this road is now in first-class condition and should remain for several years with very little expense for maintenance." Practically all of the main traveled roads around Boston are the same form of construction—that is, asphalt macadam or penetration roads.

The same condition is found around New York City. By far the heaviest out-of-town traffic is that on the main roads of Long Island, over which besides pleasure vehicles passes an endless stream of heavy horse and motor trucks bringing to the city the farm products on which New York largely subsists.

Heavy Traffic Roads of New York.

Some Long Island roads get a 24-hour traffic because the market gardeners haul their products into town at night. This is true of the Jericho Turnpike and the Merrick road, on both of which we find the same type of asphalt macadam that has stood the test for years in Massachusetts.

Cook County, Illinois; Lake County, Indiana; Lucas County, Ohio, have all taken advantage of the lessons to be learned in road building from Massachusetts; and these and scores of other communities are convinced that the most road service for the money spent is to be obtained from asphalt macadam roadways.

TYPE OF ASPHALT ROAD THAT HAS MADE MASSACHUSETTS FAMOUS.
